

---

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	xiii
Introduction	1
PART I
A theoretical framework towards the understanding of psychosexuality	7
1 Psychoanalytic understanding of bisexuality: a framework	9
PART II
Excess and representation: clinical configurations	59
2 On excess, trauma, and helplessness: repetitions and transformations	61
3 Negative hallucinations, dreams, and hallucinations: the framing structure and its representation in the analytic setting	89
4 Love and melancholia in the analysis of women by women	108
5 The riddle of anxiety: between the familiar and the unfamiliar	128

---

PART III
The uncanny and time	155
6 The uncanny and the beginnings of time in One Hundred Years of Solitude	157
References	173
Index	191

---

A

---

The opening chapter of Bisexuality: A Psychoanalytic Approach is the seminars on Psychic Bisexuality at the Psychoanalysis Unit of the University of London, all the staff and colleagues, and continuous support for the project.

This chapter is a collaboration between British and French psychoanalysts over the last two decades, and we are grateful to all including the C (CPLF). I am grateful to the people who first invited me to participate: Aisenstein and I have organized these events. The introduction, in the Freud National...

"On Excess, Formations" was presented at the Deutsche Psychologische Gesellschaft, in 2011. The DPG have often been a source of ideas. The chapter is a dialogue with Jean-